2016-17
2017-18
2018-19	Surekha Shivashranappa (18MC0034) student of M.Com First sem was facing health issues. Often she fainted in class rooms. The medical aid was given to her. Proper counseling was made to the student and also held discussion with her father.	She completed the course without any hindrance
2019-20	Loudraj Devaraj (19MC0014) student of M.com was brilliant in class but he used to remain absent for classes and very poor in tests. After enquiry I find that he is working part time in chartered accountants office and unable to spare time for study. He decided to drop the study. Proper counseling was made and convinced him to continue. Books and study materials were provided for improvement of his performance.	Even after all these efforts, he dropped the course in middle.
2020-21	Nagraj Channabasappa (20MC0115) M.com first sem student is brilliant in answering majority of the questions in the class but his score in tests was low. After interaction with student personally, I came to know that he is not comfortable with numerical subjects. I made an effort to solve more problems and guided him to answer the theory questions as far as possible and go for numerical questions as a second priority	Now he is answering both theory as well as numerical questions. Still his overall priority is theory questions
